FOREWORD.

EMBOLDENED by the approval of my Kinsmen of my attempt at the "Genealogical History of the Tyrrells," I have thought that a Supplement to that work, dealing with the founding of the now widely spread American family, may meet with favour

The difficulties that stood in the way of discovering the lineage of Richmond and William. the original emigrants were very great, and at times I should have been tempted to relinquish the search but for the encouragement received at the hands of a distinguished member of the American branch-The late Honourable Edwin Holland Terrell

This work is not in any sense intended to be a complete record of the family, but should be read in conjunction with the above-named history.

BIOGRAPHICAL NOTE

The early history of the Tyrrells is extensively set out in the "Genealogical History of the Tyrrells" from which work the first portion of the following sketch is extracted.

The Tyrrells of Thornton Hall, 4 miles N.E. of Buckingham, was descended from Sir James Tyrrell, who lived about the middle of the fourteenth century, and who married Margaret, daughter and heiress of Sir William Heron, of Heron Hall, Essex.

This Sir James was a direct descendant of Sir Walter, the alleged Regicide, whose grandfather, Sir Walter, was one of the companions of the Conqueror in 1068; and who was descended from Pepin le Gros, Duke of Brabant, great grandfather of Charlemagne.

Sir James was great grandfather to Sir John of Heron, who was present at Agincourt, 1415; Sheriff of Essex. 1423; Treasurer of the Household to Henry VI; several times Speaker of the House of Commons; and who died in 1437. His son, Sir Thomas, was Chamberlain of the Exchequer, and died in 1476, leaving four sons, the second of whom, Sir Thomas of Ockendon, was father of William of Ockendon. who married Elizabeth, daughter, and eventual heiress of Thomas Bodley of Devon. They had two sons, the second of whom, Humphrey.

married Jane, daughter and heiress of John Ingleton of Thornton Hall, and obtained with her a very large estate in Buckinghamshire and Oxfordshire, comprising over thirty manors. She was a Ward of the Thomas Bodley above named- They had one son, George, who married Elizabeth, or Eleanor, daughter of Sir Edward Montagu Lord Chief Justice of England. George Tyrrell died on 16 May, 1571, leaving Sir Edward his heir; William, of whom later; Thomas of London; Francis of London; and three daughters. Sir Edward married and had issue: Henry, who died young; Edward, created a Baronet in 1627; Sir Timothy; Francis; Charles (see Will. 1619); John; Sir Thomas; and eight daughters. The descendants of Sir Edward carried on the title until 1749, when the last Baronet, Sir Charles, died.

Reverting to William, second son of George, he is named in " Morant's History of Essex being seized of part of Ockendon, and of the Manor of Bruyn or Brun, in Essex, which, in course of time, he alienated. He settled at Reading, not many miles from Thornton, and is variously described as Tyrrell, Terrell, Tirrell and Terrill, and his Virginian descendants have, in the main, adopted the second mode of spelling the name : possibly owing to that form having been most frequently used in the early Land Grants. He married a daughter of Richmond alias Webb, of Stewley, Bucks, and had issue amongst others: Robert of Reading, who married Jane, daughter of Robert Baldwin, at St. Giles' Church, Reading, on 29 June, 1617. They had issue: John of Reading (Will, 1661), Robert of London (WA 1677), Richmond William, and Mary.

John and Robert died without issue. Richmond and William settled in Virginia and became the Ancestors of all the Tyrrells, Terrells, Tirrells and Terrills of America, with the exception of some few descended from the Irish branch of the family.

John, the eldest son, seems to have lived and died at, Reading. Robert was a merchant in London, with interests in Virginia, as appears by his Will, 1677. He was a Witness to a deed in York County, 24 January, 1647, and in the records of that county there is enrolled a power of Attorney from John Wiskens and John Robinson, merchants, of London, to Robert Terrell, Citizen and Fishmonger, of London, to collect all debts due to them in Virginia.

In the same County is also enrolled a power of Attorney from Robert Terrell, Citizen and Fishmonger, of London, intending to take a voyage to England, appointing Thomas Williamson his Attorney in Virginia.

Richmond and William settled in Virginia, the former prior to 1650 and the latter before 1657. They and their descendants received sundry grants of lands, as appears by the following extracts from the Colonial records. From them descend the various branches now resident in the United States.

Owing to the destruction of many of the records of New Kent, King and Queen, King William, and Hanover Counties, much information regarding the family has been lost. The descendants of Richmond Terrell lived in Louisa, Hanover, &c, Counties, and *some notices of them are given in the William and Mary Quarterly, xiii. 263-5. The Registers of St. Peter's New Kent, contain entries of the baptism of two sons of Timothy Terrell, viz.: ---Robert, on 25 December, 1697; and Joseph, 31 December, 1699.

The descendants of William Terrell are much more numerous than those of Richmond. Many of the members of this branch became Quakers, and from the records kept by the Society of Friends much information may be obtained from about the year 1735. (See Bell's, "Our Quaker Friends.")

There are some descendants of Richmond Terrell in Virginia and other southern States to this day. William, his brother, settled in St. Paul's Parish, Hanover County, Virginia; both he and his wife were members of the Established (Episcopal) Church.

Some considerable information as to the American family may be gleaned from a pamphlet compiled, and issued, in 1909 by the late Hon. Edwin H. Terrell, of San Antonio, Texas.
